

Rod Coote - Biography

Nestled between the mountains, rivers and lakes of the Australian countryside, Rod Coote experienced a tranquil childhood exploring the natural landscapes and his creativity while growing up in his small hometown in Manilla of New South Wales. Now based in Melbourne on the southern coastline, his indie folk music is a warm breath of fresh air weaving acoustic instrumentation with his sincere storytelling and songwriting. He has supported Ziggy Alberts, The Dreggs, Mark Wilkinson, Kim Churchill, Steph Strings, Winterbourne & Kyle Lionhart.

Finding songwriting as a teenager influenced by Ben Howard, Bon Iver, Hollow Coves, Rod built a community of loyal listeners and artist path through busking, releasing new music, playing festivals and now touring headline shows across Australia, Europe & United Kingdom.

Rod has released four EP's 'The Leap', 'Where Rivers Meet The Sea' & 'New England' that explore his formative journey moving from the countryside to the coastline. These collections of songs were produced by Garrett Kato (Ziggy Alberts, Riley Pearce), Tim Hart (Boy & Bear) & Jackson Barclay (Hollow Coves, Woodlock). His latest EP 'Half Moon Bay' released on May 9th and was produced by Hayden Calnin (Harrison Storm, Didirri) in his studio cabin on the outskirts of Melbourne Australia.
